

Subject: Accessibility Updates for Anime Haven Website

Hi Sophie, I hope you're feeling well. I wanted to let you know that I've made some changes to the website based on your request to improve the website's accessibility.

Firstly, I've made changes to the website's structure, on the front and back end. I've edited the code to be more structured and readable.

1. By adding clear alt attributes, this helps users with any visual impairments who rely on screen readers to understand the context of every image located on the website, Like the posters of anime's located in the anime review section.
2. I've improved the heading structure, by adding clear `<h1>`, `<h2>` , etc. tags throughout the HTML code to organize sections. This should make it easier for screen readers to navigate the page, and help search engines provide proper preview text, and hopefully increase clicks onto our website.
3. I've slightly altered the colour scheme and text fonts to create higher contrast in important areas which should help users with color blindness, or dyslexia better distinguish the text from the background.

You can preview the website here on our GitHub:

Let me know if you'd like me to push any further alterations or additions. I'm excited to help you realize this vision!
